Furs The Year's Fur Novelties

Several new furs have established strong claim to favor. Fitch, a silky long haired fur in shades of yellow strongly marked with black, is made in elaborate sets, alone and in combination with velvet. Silver Rat, a tiny pelt with a very high silvery lustre, is seen as a trimming on elaborate costumes. Its use is limited by scarcity and costliness. Mole or Taupe, unequalled for exquisite color and clinging texture, is used for long and short coats and evening wraps, and in many different combinations with long haired furs.

New Scarts and Mutts

These show many beautiful combinations. Foxes of contrasting colors are made up together, and flat furs are edged and banded with long haired skins. While large sets are still chosen for afternoon and evening wear there is a decided tendency to return to moderate sizes and practical shapes for use with walking costumes.

We have just received a large consignment of White, Blue and Silver Foxes which can be made up to order as desired. As this collection contains some specimen skins of unusual beauty an early selection is advised.
